ELIMINATE MANUAL BILLING AND REPORTING

No segment of your firm is immune from the requirement to generate fast and readable documents. Reports produced for wider audiences require flexible formatting and dynamic distribution. eBilling has become a necessity, as more and more vendors require bills to be generated electronically and in their required formats. Fast conflicts searches are critical for determining whether to take on certain business. Yet many firms are dealing with isolated information that isn't easily available due to outdated formatting and distribution technologies. Elite now provides a way to erase these limitations and enable you to produce well-formatted, paper-based bills and proformas.

Elite Design Gallery is a document automation solution that manages the collection, reorganization, conversion, and distribution of data available within Elite Enterprise and ELITE 3E systems. The integration technology allows for the rich creation and conversion of paper-based documents, advanced spreadsheets, text/XML files, and output meant for online publishing and mobile devices. Bill formats, conflicts of interest reports, accounts receivables reports, e-billing, and proforma review processes all benefit from the elegant Design Gallery infrastructure that gives you both the speed and the flexibility you need to create the custom outputs that support specific and often varied business processes.

Design Gallery eliminates the need to create critical billing and conflicts reports manually. Enhanced distribution capabilities enable you to generate reports to SharePoint and multiple output solutions, make global changes to output solutions, and to share components between solutions for multi-national requirements. By streamlining the data distribution processes, Design Gallery helps you improve your efficiency and increase your profitability.

The world's leading law firms trust Elite to deliver innovative products that improve processes and increase profitability. With more than 60 years of experience, Elite has the proven expertise to make it happen for you.

Elite has consistently been an award-winning provider of financial and practice management solutions to global professional services firms.
